

The biggest rains since 1951 made the roadside park south of Canyon a much better place to water ski than to picnic Friday as the usually placid creek ran wild. In addition to completely flooding the park, the rampaging creek caused a mild sensation by covering Highway 87 with some two to three inches of water just south of the city.

Flesher Submits Resignation to County; Angel to Be Appointed Judge on July 5

Coward Comedy On Tap Thursday

First performance of Noel Coward's improbable farce, "Blithe Spirit," will be staged in the Branding Iron Theatre at West Texas State College Thursday night. Two additional shows are scheduled Friday and Saturday.

Directed by William A. Moore, the comedy will boast a cast of seven student actors, headed by Avert Smith of Amarillo and Marti Hinson of Groom. Smith portrays a novelist, Charles Condomine, who is haunted by the "blithe spirit" of his late first wife, Elvira, who is played by Miss Hinson.

Curtain time each night is 8:15, and admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for high school students and children.

The novelist's second wife, who also takes a spiritualistic journey, and who is the object of Elvira's mischief, is played by Rena Aikens of Amarillo. The fortune teller-spiritualist who causes all the trouble, Madame Arcati, is played by Marian Forbush of Canyon, who starred in "The King and I" and who last year played the lead role as a spiritualist in "The Medium."

Playing the part of Edith is Rosalie Hurt of El Paso, Dr. Bradman is Guy Yates of Amarillo, and Mrs. Bradman is Sherri Davis of Durham, Okla.

"Plugged and abandoned" reads the final entry on the records of another vain attempt to find oil in Randall County, and this simple set of valves is all that is left. The wildcat "duster" was drilled about five miles east of Canyon for Texaco, Inc., by J. M. Johnson Drilling Company. Dubbed the No. 1 G. H. Leseberg, the test was bottomed at 7,950 feet.

Court Squabbles Over Road Issue

County Judge W. J. Flesher resigned Monday in a Commissioners' Court meeting marked by a squabble over the proposed paving of a county road in the northwest corner of the county.

Judge Flesher's resignation is effective July 1, or as soon thereafter as a new judge is appointed and qualified.

Angel to Make Bond

Wayland Angel, who was elected county judge in a runoff election June 4, said he thought he could present his bond and qualify on June 5. Angel defeated Carroll Brown, Amarillo attorney, for the remainder of the term left vacant by the resignation of Roy Joe Stevens April 1.

Commissioners agreed to hold a brief meeting July 5 to approve Angel, who has been present at the past two meetings.

The row over a request to the Texas Highway Commission to pave an 11-mile strip in the northwest corner of the county. B. E. McCormick, precinct 1 commissioner, objected to the request, saying it was the northeast corner that was starved for paving.

Request Rewritten

McCormick's objections finally resulted in commissioners rewriting the request for farm-to-market construction. His request was inserted in the letter as an alternate possibility.

C. Y. Johnson, precinct 4 commissioner, said the sought farm-to-market paving would tie Umbarger and Bushland and would be an extension of a road to Boys Ranch. The request asked construction from the west terminus of FM 2186 south and west 11 miles to the intersection of FM 168 and 1062.

Clarence Beckman, commissioner for precinct 2, said he had been working for such a pavement as long as he has been in office—28 years—to get paving in that area, and he felt it should take precedence.

The request to the highway department also asked the state to accept maintenance of approximately five miles of county road extending south from Canyon High School to FM 1714 and approximately eight and one-half miles of road extending east from Highway 87 seven miles south of Canyon.

Courthouse Repair

Commissioners accepted a bid from Jerry Harding to do repair work on the courthouse. One of three received, Harding's bid of $2,608 stated he would clean, scrape, sand, recaulk cracks, reglaze glass where needed, and paint two coats on all exterior wood and masonry stone trim, metal window bars, and fire escapes on the courthouse.

He guaranteed his work for three years.

Commissioners' Court will not meet next week.

CITY BASEBALL

Last Week's League Action Sees Most Games Played, Some Called

Canyon's baseball leagues had an off and on week last week, with most of the games played and some called because of rain.

Babe Ruth League

Only one of last week's Babe Ruth League games was played, the other two being rained out. The postponed games were the giants vs. Cardinals Tuesday night and the White Sox vs. Pirates Thursday night.

Saturday night's game was played, and the Giants defeated the White Sox, 6-2. Russell Cook, the winning pitcher, pitched the entire game. His ability to strike out opposing players was his strongest point, according to George de Schweinitz, league secretary.

Harry Lisle, the losing pitcher, gave up only one hit. He lost the game in the sixth inning because of wildness.

De Schweinitz calls several matters to the attention of baseball fans. First, the 13-year-old teams in the league play abbreviated games at 6 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays. Second, the league needs volunteer umpires for the games. Third, "parents of the players should attend the games to support their children and the program," de Schweinitz said.

Little League

In the major league games of the Little League last week, the Yankees trounced the Dodgers, 24-7, the Redlegs whipped the Dodgers, 12-2, and the Dodgers scuttled the Braves, 16-3.

In minor league action, the Phillies beat the Indians, 9-1, the Cubs defeated the Tigers, 8-2, the Tigers routed the Indians, 23-4, and the Cubs downed the Indians, 17-9.

Five games were played by the eight-year-old teams last week. The Orioles eked past the Red Sox, 8-7, the Senators whipped the Red Sox, 16-8, the Orioles defeated the Red Sox, 9-4, the Senators routed the Red Sox, 13-7, and the Senators outlasted the Red Sox, 17-8.

Local Wheat Cutters Greet Sun as Late Harvest Starts

Scattered cuttings have begun on Randall County's 118,000 acres of dryland and irrigated wheat, and John Brazil, Randall County agriculture agent, expects the high ground to be dry enough for cutting by the end of the week if the sun continues to shine.

Although the county has received from 6 to 10 inches of rain during the past two weeks, damage to wheat crops has been slight and almost all of the county's wheat has been saved, Brazil said Tuesday.

Dr. M. B. Measamer, head of the geography department at West Texas State College, has recorded 7.07 inches of rain so far in June and 1.15 inches for the last week-end in May. This makes the official total rainfall 8.22 inches for the two-week period of almost daily rainstorms.

Usually Get Hail

Brazil says the county has been especially fortunate that the hail damage has been so small this year. "We generally don't get this much heavy rain without a lot of hail," he said.

There have been no big losses of wheat crops, according to Brazil. The greatest amount of damage came from the high winds which flattened some wheat, but most of it has stood up again. did not hurt the county's crop as other wheat damage was slight as a whole.

Areas of major damage were the northwest corner of the county, a strip along the southern edge, and a strip east of Canyon along the Palo Duro highway.

Ready for Cutting

"The wheat is mature and ready for cutting," Brazil said, "and we can expect about 15 bushels to the acre for dryland wheat, and as much as 35 to 40 bushels for irrigated wheat."

John Taylor, of Farmers Elevator, said that J. C. McClendon brought the first load to his elevator Tuesday afternoon. It ran 14.25 percent moisture.

Arnold Prichard of Consumers Elevator said the first load of wheat came in there Monday evening. Jim Jennings brought in 14,520 pounds which tested 17.38 percent moisture.

Bennie Woods of Umbarger Co-Op reported Wednesday that Edgar Robinson had won the cash premium awarded by the elevator for the first load of wheat.

Robinson brought in a load of wheat Tuesday from the Robinson-Sutton farm that tested as No. 1 wheat—with a 14.45 percent moisture content.

S. L. Robinson, whose farm is southeast of Canyon, brought a test load of dryland wheat to Randall County Grain and Supply June 4. Tests on the 248 bushels, cut from 21 acres, ran 19.5 percent moisture. Number one wheat cannot test more than 15 percent.

Brazil said that there are plenty of machines in the county to pick up all the wheat. He expects an above average yield and says that the high quality of the wheat was not affected by the rain.

Doyle Thomas, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, has also predicted that this year's yield will be heavier than the average in the past. Thomas also said that it is too early to know the market price for wheat and whether it will be above the loan price.

The hardest hit crop in the county was cotton, which Brazil said is of minor importance. There are usually only about 2,000 acres planted in cotton, but most of this acreage will have to be diverted to other crops because of the rain damage. Most of the cotton planted in May did not make stands, and that planted later was washed away. It is now too late in the season to plant more, so other crops will have to be planted in place of the cotton, Brazil said.

Good Outweighs Damage

Grain sorghum is ready to be planted. The above average moisture conditions seem to indicate an "extra good" crop of grain sorghum.

Ranges and pastures were helped greatly by the rains. Brazil said grasses had practically stopped growing, and that now they have plenty of water and are making excellent growth.

"The damage was far less than the good we got from the rains," Brazil said, "and we are now in real good shape."

1951 Rain Flooded County Roads, Park

By ANNELLE DUGAN

Heavy downpours which left amounts ranging from six to ten inches scattered over the county during the past two weeks approached Canyon's record for rainfall in a short period of time.

Unofficial measurements placed rainfall in Canyon at 8.22 inches in two weeks, compared to 8.88 which fell in two days in May, 1951. Amounts measured in 1951 ran to more than 12 inches.

A Canyon Independent School bus became mired in lakebed mud south of the home of Bill Wilson, and, as rain continued to fall, the lake filled water lapped at the bus windows.

Shortly before school opened for the 1951-52 term, several maintainers attempted to pull the bus out—and became stuck themselves.

On another attempt, the bus was pulled from the lake. Inside was a water snake, a skunk, and soggy seats.

Other damage incurred during the 1951 rain, which sent water over the spillway at Buffalo Lake, were the closing of 20 roads in precinct 3 because lakes were over the roads and the stopping of traffic when the underpass east of the railroad depot filled with water.

Palo Duro Damage

Heaviest damage was done in Palo Duro Canyon, where a swollen Palo Duro Creek submerged picnic units at Number One water crossing and washed out the road-bed between the sixth and seventh water crossing.

State Highway Department equipment, being used in repairing an rebuilding the park roads, was washed downstream. One extremely heavy dragline was never found.

7 Wrecks in May Noted in County

Seven rural traffic accidents were investigated by the Highway Patrol service of the Texas Department of Public Safety in Randall County during the month of May, according to Sgt. Roger W. Sosebee.

In making this announcement, the sergeant reported two property damage, five injury, and no fatal accidents. These wrecks caused a total property damage of $5,835 with 13 persons injured.

This brings the total for the year in this county to six killed, 30 injured, and property damage of $22,590.

"During the first five months of this year, traffic deaths decreased 11 percent over the same period of 1959; however, the most dangerous part of the year accident wise is still ahead of us," the sergeant said.

Four Land Cases Heard by Juries

Four of the 10 condemnation suits in Randall County which have been hanging fire for several months were tried last week in Judge W. J. Flesher's county court.

The six remaining cases are to be set and tried in the near future. A. W. Lair, criminal district attorney, said.

Juries hearing the four cases last week stayed within a few hundred dollars of what the state had first offered landowners for the property adjacent to the new expressway between Canyon and Amarillo.

In an appeals case, O. H. Dixon was awarded $11,236 for two tracts of land. The state's approved value was $11,809, and this amount was awarded by the first trial jury after the state had appealed a value of $15,579.55 set by a special condemnation board.

The Nellie Abrahamson Estate was awarded $6,572 for land belonging to it that was condemned for use on the expressway. The state approved value on the property was $7,300. The special condemnation board had set the value at $6,600.

Last week's jury awarded David C. Schroeder $2,748 for property on which the state had set an approved value of $2,632. The special condemnation board had valued the land at $2,932.

Alvin Hacker was awarded $1,506 for his land. The state approved value was $1,500, and the condemnation board had valued it at $2,000.

STANLEY McDONOUGH

A&M Grad Starts Work as Warden

Stanley McDonough, a 1960 graduate of the Game Warden School at Texas A&M, began work last week with Woody Pond, Canyon's present game warden, as a second game warden for the Canyon area.

McDonough was graduated from the Game Warden School June 6 and came to Canyon the next day.

After graduating from Matador High School, McDonough attended Texas Technological College at Lubbock, and spent several years in the Army before going to A&M.

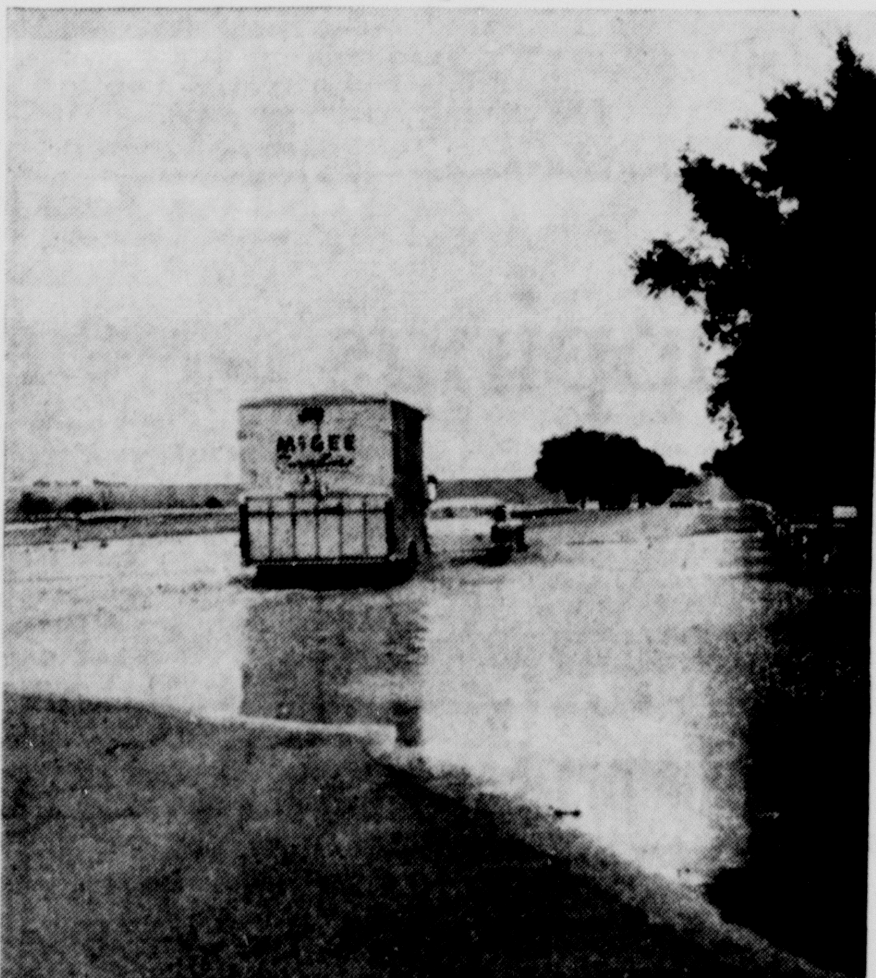

He now lives at 1807-A Eighth Avenue in Canyon.

Fish Rodeo Date Moved to June 25

The Jaycee Fish Rodeo, originally scheduled for June 11, was postponed because of bad weather until June 25.

No changes were made in the place or time of the rodeo. It will be held on the farm of Doug Rittenberry, which is located on the Canyon City Club road. The contest will begin at 1 p.m. and judging will be at 6 p.m.

The two divisions of the rodeo will be those under nine years old and those between nine and 14. Seven prizes are offered in each division.

Scenes like this were common in 1951 when heavy rains inundated the county. In this stretch south of Canyon, the only place where water was over the main highway only trucks were permitted after the 1951 rain.

Salute to Dairy Industry

June is Dairy Month in America, and that should be important to the people of Randall County.

Dairying to this region means a great deal, not only in the finances involved, but some of the finest people in the county are dairy farmers.

But there are many reasons for setting aside a whole month to salute the dairy farmer, to wit:

Financially, dairying in Randall County means about $100,000 a month, and is the most stable of all the agricultural endeavors in the county. Some 50 to 55 families earn their livings with a dairy, making it one of the largest industries in the county.

Nationally, it is the greatest single source of farm income in America. One of every five dollars in cash receipts from farm products is a dairy dollar.

Historically, the dairy cow kept alive more than half the colonists who first came to America's shores from England in the years 1607-1610. The first shipment of dairy cattle arrived at Jamestown, Va., in 1611.

Astronomically, Gopatis or Lord of the Cows—the earliest known form of King as recorded—referred to the moon as the "milk goddess of the night." The stars were defined as five-horned cattle in the Vedic hymns written in Sanskrit on tablets of stone—the oldest writings known to man. As Gopatis watched the cow-studded Heavens another visible proof of the holiness of the cow appeared. Across the sky there flowed a great river of soft whiteness which to this day is called the "Milky Way."

Nutritionally, milk and milk products provide from 20 to 25 percent of the nation's essential food nutrients for only 15 to 18 percent of the food budget. The great Greek physician Hippocrates prescribed milk as a medicine 500 years before Christ was born. Milk is nature's most nearly perfect food.

Statistically, the dairy industry embraces milk production from 19 million cows on more than a million farms in this country, processing the milk in 35,000 dairy plants, and distributing the equivalent of 60 billion quarts of milk a year in the form of fluid milk and its products for use by the nation's 180 million people. Sales of dairy products amount to over 10 billion dollars a year, the largest single segment of the nation's 80 billion dollar expenditure for all types of food.

Marvelously, dairy plants utilize the latest in engineering efficiency to produce food of the highest quality under the most sanitary of conditions.

There are many more reasons why the dairy farmer and the dairy industry should be honored the month of June, but we think the above reasons are enough to justify our salute to the dairy farmers and their families in Randall County.

An Old Eskimo Trick

The fallacy of federal aid was forcefully pointed out the other day in a speech made by Charles R. Sligh, Jr., executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

A recent book which describes the lives of the Eskimos tells about the way they deal with wolf packs. The story goes that the Eskimos embed razor-sharp knives clasp down in the ice, and rub the blades with a little seal blood. The wolves are attracted by the blood, and lick the knives, cutting their tongues. They are delighted by the seemingly inexhaustible supply of nourishing blood they can lick off the knives, and stand there licking until they drop in their tracks from the loss of blood, and freeze to death in the snow.

This is a clever trick, but we are in no position to jeer at the stupidity of the wolves. We Americans have been falling for a similar trick for a good many years now and it looks like we are to continue.

Federal support, given from the federal treasury, is a myth. There is nothing in the federal treasury except what we put in there. This treasury, using our taxes, are blood, and we cannot be nourished by it any more than those wolves can thrive on their own blood.

A Message To Graduates

All over the United States high school graduates and college graduates are entering the stage of life — at a time when their country is the foremost power in the world and when business opportunities are plentiful.

Although young graduates are not too often prone to take freely-offered advice, we will nevertheless offer a few points, as a general guide, which we believe might be helpful to those leaving school at this time.

The first thing worth mentioning is that every graduate, or even those who did not graduate, can succeed in life. We live in a country where success can be achieved as a result of sustained effort or determination. One does not have to be a genius, brilliant, or even smart, to achieve this success.

Fortunately, in the United States we have such plentiful opportunities that a determination to succeed, and a willingness to work, will produce very gratifying results.

Perhaps the most important single piece of advice to be given to graduates or those entering the business world at this time is the suggestion that they develop an individual Christian philosophy. This means that each person develop a set of principles and a philosophy by which he will try to live his life. Naturally, he will sometimes fail, but the point is that he will be attempting to live a life in harmony with certain basic guidelines.

Another suggestion is for youngsters today to resist the temptation to over-emphasize the importance of money. The great values of life, and of time, are not dependent upon financial means.

Lastly, we would suggest that a good policy for youngsters today is to refuse to indulge in the most widespread curse of the masses — that of gossip. Careless words, mischievous comment, and scandalous exaggeration are indulged in by a surprisingly large percentage of the population. It requires great will power and considerable strength of character to avoid this tempting pitfall of life.

These things — a life patterned on the Christian philosophy of Jesus, one in which hard and sustained work is respected, one in which money is not worshipped as a god, and one in which help is extended to our fellow men, and evil gossip resisted, add up to a life of good citizenship, and a contribution to one's community, city and state.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Jimmie Gillentine in the Hereford Brand: Politicians have a saying that it is impossible to please everybody, and I guess that is right. Tuesday morning, following the second rain of the week, I ran into Ralph Hastings, and he was wearing one of those king-size smiles. "It's wonderful," declared Ralph — and offered to buy coffee for the entire crowd. Some 10 paces away I encountered James Hutson, who was talking about "over two inches — and no hail." The next fellow was Red Coffin, the cabbage king, and he was wearing a frown.

"It was terrible," allowed Red. "Nothing can mess up a cabbage crop like a rain at the wrong time. I wish it would snow in the winter, then quit; that way I could put on water when it does some good."

Ben Ezell in The Canadian Record: Herb True, quip-cracking

after-dinner speaker, declares that "Anybody who still smokes either doesn't want to live or just plain can't read."

But the choicest reason for swearing-off smoking is one we saw quoted recently from a new convert who declared that smoking simply required too many decisions.

"First," says the unhappy fellow, "you have to decide which brand you want. Then having made that difficult choice, you must tell the salesman whether you want the crush-proof box or the soft pack, king-size or regular, filter or plain, menthol or mint. The strain got so heavy I just decided to quit!"

Columnist Recalls Experiences Of Life in 'the Good Old Days'

By BOYCE HOUSE

Thrills recalled: Standing on the very spot where Patrick Henry stood when he thundered, "Give me liberty or give me death!"

Visiting the grave of Sam Houston, the home of Eugene Field (author, of course, of "Little Boy Blue"), and the courthouse in which the case of Dred Scott was tried;

Hearing and seeing, on the stage, Ted Lewis, Bob Hope, Jerry Lewis and Mary Martin.

Yes, life has not been lacking in variety — each Sunday for seven years on a Southwestern radio hookup; hundreds and hundreds of after-dinner speeches; viewing San Francisco, Natchez, Vicksburg, San Antonio, New York, Hollywood and Mexico; interviewing Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard (but not at the same time); seeing Dan Patch to a racing sulky in the twilight of the great pacer's career;

Writing books, magazine articles, thousands of news articles — and this column.

Many years ago, there was a genial businessman in Memphis, by the name of O. K. Houck. At a service club, he was introducing the speaker of the day, a prominent minister, and he said, "I go to hear Dr. Williamson preach once a year and that is often enough." He paused and the expressions on the faces of his hearers indicated embarrassment at his remark. Then he continued, "Yes, once a year is often enough; you get so much religion that it lasts you for a full 12 months."

Songs aren't as sad as in "the good old days." Some of the favorites in my boyhood were "Just Tell Them That You Saw Me," (the lament of a girl who had run away with a villain and has encountered results of a study by the Society someone from her home town). Similar in theme was "You Made Me What I Am Today (I Hope You're Satisfied)". Then there was "Don't Turn My Picture to the Wall."

Can you remember when they used to print pocket dictionaries which sold for a quarter? Those handy little books were full of information, too, such as:

"Suppress — See repress."
"Repress — See suppress."

Well, anyhow, they showed you how to spell a word.

Cornette Talks On College Needs

An immediate and vital need for better financing of higher education was outlined by Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State College, recently in a speech to the Hereford Rotary Club.

The need arises from a continuing spiral of population and a demand for more education, Dr. Cornette said. He predicted the number of students enrolled in college will double in the next 10 years.

State institutions will have to be ready for the huge increase of students, which cannot be absorbed by private and denominational colleges and universities.

Two main facts are immediately apparent, Dr. Cornette said. First, higher education has increased in cost mostly because more people are going to college. Second, the increased support given our colleges has not been as great as increases in individual personal income.

The man who hangs on is not always spectacular, but he stands the best chance for success.

OUT WHERE THE COUNTRY CAN
TEAR A TRUCK TO PIECES—

Chevy
middleweights get 1/3 more work done
in a day!

Where they used to deliver 2,300 gallons of liquefied petroleum gas in other trucks, Petrolane Gas Service of Long Beach, California, can now deliver 3,500 gallons a day! That's 7 days a week usually, over back trails and up into high rock country with maximum GVW loads. And with Chevy's Torsion-Spring Ride paving every foot of the way! "You don't get any more jolting on washboard roads than you do in a passenger car, or any sideway on curves," says driver Bernie Stone. "I used to take some rough roads at from 5 to 8 miles an hour. Now I can go 30 over them." Petrolane has over 200 Chevrolets hauling for them.

If you think we're excited about Chevy's independent front suspension, you ought to talk to the truck owners who are profiting by it. They'll tell you Chevy's torsion-spring design is the hottest thing to hit the industry since trucks began. Drive one—that's the proof, short and sweet.

BY RETIRED AGENT

Early Days of Railroading Recalled

By BOB TAYLOR

H. E. Campfield has hung up his agent's cap, left Canyon's Santa Fe railroad station, and retired from the job he held here for 22 years.

A native of Kansas, Campfield began his career with the railroad by going to telegraph school in Topeka. After finishing there in the summer of 1911, he began doing relief work in Kansas and Oklahoma.

"I came to Amarillo in January of 1912 and started working at St. Francis. After working in Glazier for five months, I went back to Oklahoma for five years," Campfield recalls.

Served Army Overseas

He entered the Army in 1917 at Camp Travis in San Antonio and served overseas for nearly a year. He was discharged in June, 1919, and was back at work by July.

"The Santa Fe had started its branch west in the summer of 1916, and we opened the station at Darrouzett the summer I came back (1919)," Campfield says.

"After I worked there for several years, I went to Follett and then to Spearman. I was in Spearman for 15 years before coming to Canyon in 1938. We came mainly to put the kids in school here."

Seen Plains Develop

Campfield has seen the Plains in many stages of development.

"When I landed here, this was ranching country, with a little bit of farming. Then in 1926 I was in Spearman when the big oil boom was in full swing on both sides of the river. There were no bridges across the Canadian River, so we handled all the business for the communities farther north, as well as for Spearman."

"In 1926 I also saw the biggest wheat crop ever in the area. The acreage was less then, of course, but there was much more yield per acre."

"The war years brought the most railroad activity to Canyon. There were 600 airmen at the college, and they were in and out every 30 days. Also there was the gas ration, which meant that people couldn't travel by car, so we got them on the train."

H. E. Campfield sits at the desk in Canyon's Santa Fe railroad station, where he served as agent for 22 years before retiring this year. Campfield began his career with the railroad in Kansas in 1911 and has served as telegraph operator and agent in Oklahoma and several communities in the Plains area. Since his retirement, Campfield has used his lifetime pass to travel on the Santa Fe to both the east and west coasts.

Campfield was a telegraph operator with the railroad until 1916, when he became an agent. He served in this capacity until his retirement.

"An agent has to do everything," Campfield admits with a chuckle. "Mostly, though, I had to supervise a 'round-the-clock crew.'"

Things were different in the earlier days of railroading.

"I can remember when they were still building branch lines for the railroad. I was in Spearman when they extended the line to Morse."

"In 'them days' the trains were all steam. They could only pull about half the tonnage as they do now, and every 15 or so miles they had to have a water tank. There are hardly any water tanks left standing any more, with the diesels and all. I guess I haven't seen a steam engine in operation for nearly five years."

"Like Living in Arkansas"

Passenger trains were also different then, Campfield remembers.

"It was only about 20 or 25 years ago that they put the first air conditioner in a train, and then it was only in the dining cars. Later they put them in the pull-man cars and finally in the coaches."

"Riding in the summer was awfully hot, but I guess it was like living in Arkansas, nobody knew any better. We took the kids to the fair in Chicago back then, and we had to ride all the way with the windows open. The cinders flew in the windows, and we were completely covered when we got there."

"The schedules are 50 percent faster now than they were when I first went to work. This isn't because the trains were off schedule any more than they are now, they were just working with a slower schedule since the trains were slower."

Since his retirement, Campfield has just "taken it easy." He works in the yard of his home at 1005 Fifth Avenue, which keeps him "pretty busy." He has also taken advantage of the lifetime passes which the Santa Fe railroad gave him and his wife after he had

BY LOUISE ALLEN

A bunch of green-thumbers the other day were expressing their collective unhappiness with yardmen. "..." and he pulled up all my petunias, just as they were getting started — finally!" "You'd think he'd know the difference between chrysanthemums and careless weeds, wouldn't you?" "Don't let him touch the flower beds if you expect to have any blooms."

We sat silent. Being a bit tone-deaf on gardening, our sympathy is naturally with the itinerant yard boys. Not only do they have to know all the plants in the world; they also have to get along with some mighty queer people.

While one woman has a contempt for iris, her neighbor proudly cherishes a dozen unusual varieties. Mrs. A. wants all the trumpet vine and morning glory torn out; Mrs. B. is protecting every volunteer sprig of either. Mrs. C. last year boasted of her white violets; this year she wants them uprooted.

The official green-thumber at our house never lets us do any delicate operation. We just weed the ington and places like that."

Campfield's other two children are Mrs. Eugene Bonds, who lives southeast of Canyon, and Harry Campfield, Jr., who lives in Memphis, Texas.

Campfield is a member of the Methodist church, where he served on the official board for 15 years and was president of the men's fellowship class twice. He has been in the American Legion since 1921 and was a commander in both Spearman and Canyon. He is now finance officer. He also is a Mason.

"My plans now are to live in Canyon, try to keep busy, and travel as long as I am able to move around."

bermuda. But one day recently, when he had gone about his business, we were weeding along and noticed some luscious young dandelions flourishing in his neat flower bed. We thought it only decent to reach over and pull'em. But after about the sixth, we got a warning in our brown thumb and called him over.

"Ye gods, my daisies!" he yelled. "It's taken me two years to get a start!"

Once several years ago, he had us dig little holes around the borders and plant nasturtiums. When they came up we were as proud as a mother hen. But one day he dug every frazzlin' one of'em out. Said he had decided he didn't want nasturtiums.

See what we mean about green-thumbers and yardmen?

Washington Report

The Mail Bag

By Representative Walter Rogers
18th Congressional District

If variety is the spice of life, as the old saying goes, members of Congress have a well seasoned existence. Even the proverbial "Joseph's coat of many colors" could not boast of the variety that graces the mail flowing into a congressional office.

Sometimes it comes so fast and furious that it is impossible to avoid some delay in answering. Some express glad tidings and great joy, while others reach the other extreme of complete frustration and are permeated with the depths of despair.

Many contain personal problems of the writers who are writing to their congressman because they know not where to turn.

Others contain advice and counsel on world affairs, national affairs, and specific pieces of legislation. Many are "thank you" letters while some are replete with caustic criticism. Some are written on the finest embossed stationery, while others may be on the reverse side of a discarded letter or an old piece of paper sack.

Sometimes the great bulk of the mail concerns one particular issue of great interest. Usually this is some controversy. The increase in the mail under these circumstances can be 400 or 500 percent over a few days period. The issue that created the greatest increase in my mail since I have served in Congress was the controversy between President Truman and General MacArthur when the president fired the general.

Within a period of approximately two weeks, I received some 7,500 written communications on that subject alone, to say nothing of the telephone calls and personal contacts. Other issues have generated measurable increases, but none could compare with the Truman-MacArthur controversy.

Reads All Letters

Many of the letters that I receive as well as conversations with people indicate that there are quite a few people who feel that mail directed to a congressman is read by some secretary and is never seen by the congressman. This could be true in a few cases, but in most instances, the member of the House of Representatives is vitally interested in the contents of the mail received and tries to read every letter from his constituents.

This has been true in my own case for several reasons. One is that I have always liked to receive mail and to read it. There is nothing that I am more anxious to do than to find out what is inside of a sealed envelope or who is on the other end of a ringing telephone. Perhaps I received an oversupply of curiosity, but if so, I am glad of it.

To give you a general idea of what my mail contains, I will pick at random from my desk top a few items. As I have explained in a previous newsletter, I have my own individual filing system. Many of you who have visited my office are familiar with it. It consists of dividing my desk top in the same manner as a section of land, that is, the NE quarter, the NW quarter, the SE quarter and the SW quarter.

When I file a letter for future attention, all I need to remember is the quarter in which it was filed. Incidentally, the Truman-MacArthur mail made it necessary to lease several additional sections on a temporary basis. I will pick up a few items from the different quarter sections.

Owes Society Dues

In the NE section, I find that I haven't paid any dues to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society at Canyon. Other subjects include the effect of unfair imports on the farm situation, several different positions on federal aid to education, Turkish government decree for the protection of Turkish currency, application being processed by the FCC, who to vote for as president of the Texas Bar Association, legislation affecting the use of Mexican nationals for farm labor, disability pension under Social Security, socialized medicine, the selection of additional post office quarters, the oil import problem.

Turning to the SW quarter, we find such subjects as helium, the salt content of the Colorado River, why TV should be free for the discussion of political issues between the Republican and Democratic parties, the sugar beet problem, the effect of TV shows on children, why Civil Service should be abolished, what additives should be allowed in foods, mistreatment of the Indians in Arizona, why income tax should be abolished, raises in pay for federal workers, how to settle the water problems of the nation, and a number of communications with regard to the Summit meeting.

'McGurks Law'

One writer on the Summit matter advises that those in charge of the Summit failed to recognize "McGurks Law." He sent in an embossed copy of "McGurks Law" which reads as follows:

"Any improbable event which would create a maximum confusion if it did occur . . . will occur."

There is no room in this newsletter to go into the NW and the SE quarters. We will cover that another day. But let me close by saying that each communication, whether it involves the shrimp fishing in the Gulf of Mexico or a TV antenna on top of Mt. McKinley is always welcome in this office and will receive the quickest attention possible. So long as we have that type of communication between the people and their elect-

(This is the first of several columns written to induce Texans to "See Texas First." This week, and every week, the column will contain material about the State of Texas, its history, its beauties, its recreation areas, its many attractions for those who would like to see more and know more about this magnificent empire. —Ed.)

More and more people are enjoying the fine sport and the great fun of fishing in Texas . . . and savoring their delicious catches at their dinner tables.

Texas' gulf coast is a fabulous "dream come true" for anglers. Many return home with ice chests full of such tasty salt water fish as speckled trout, red snapper, flounder, and many, many others.

The big ones are there too. Fact of the matter is the world's record catch in a giant sea bass was made in Tascosa.

To relive the old west, visit Tascosa, some 25 miles northwest of Amarillo and present site of Cal Farley's Boys Ranch.

An old railroad touring car belonging to Jay Gould, the railroad magnate, now stands as a museum in Jefferson, in the northeast corner of the state.

When the town council refused him a right-of-way for his railroad through the city, in the mid-1900's, Gould noted in the hotel register, "This is the end of Jefferson."

But Jefferson still stands, and so does the railroad car.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—In looking forward to the 57th Legislature, speculation now centers on (1) who will be elected Speaker of the House and (2) who will get important legislative committee assignments.

Speaker's race is following the pattern of two years ago. Both Rep. Wade Spilman of McAllen and Rep. James Turman of Guber claim sure victory. Each accuses the other of claiming votes from members that aren't actually pledged to him.

It takes votes of 76 of the 150 House members to win. Actual election takes place when the legislature meets in January.

Committee assignments will be made at the start of the session by the lieutenant governor for the Senate and by the newly-elected Speaker of the House.

Make-up of committees is of crucial importance since an unfavorable committee can, by delay or disapproval, bring almost sure death to a piece of legislation. Lawmakers themselves attach much personal significance to their committee assignments, usually regarding chairmanship of key committees as rungs up the political ladder.

But this year some members are saying, either jokingly or seriously, that they'd just as soon pass up top committee honors. They note a high casualty rate in the campaigns among last year's key committee members.

Among those who lost out were Sen. William Fly of Victoria, chairman of the powerful Senate Finance committee; Sen. Floyd Bradshaw, member of finance and other important committees; Rep. Max Smith, vice chairman of the House state affairs committee; Rep. Frances Seelgson, vice chairman of House revenue and taxation committee.

Leadership can have a high price tag, one member observed. "Some of those committees, like state affairs or taxation, get nothing but hot potatoes. You make a batch of enemies with every bill."

Short Snorts

Joe G. Moore, Jr., of Austin has been appointed secretary and research director for the State Finance Advisory Commission. Moore was at one time a research assistant for the Texas Legislative Council, helping in a study of state tax laws.

Nothing would satisfy the person who is habitually discontented.

The rains came last week, turning usually lazy creeks into raging torrents of water. The small creek just north of Canyon overflowed its banks flooding the service road alongside Highway 87 and threatening the west lanes of the highway. The creek south of the city flooded the highway as Canyon got its biggest rains since 1951.

Rayburn Williams, standing, assistant manager of the North Texas Milk Producers Association, speaks to the nearly 40 people attending the group's annual dinner meeting held in the Farm Bureau building here Thursday night. Seated to the left is J. G. Anderson. To the right are Charles Gerald, president of the organization, Mrs. Gerald, and Mrs. J. B. Sharp.

Dairy Problems Discussed At Milk Producers Meeting

A crowd of nearly 40 braved threatening weather Thursday night to attend the annual dinner meeting of the North Texas Milk Producers Association here.

Rayburn Williams, assistant manager of the association, spoke to the group on problems of milk producers and what the association is doing to solve them. After the speech, officers for the coming year were elected.

Williams said that one of the problems that dairy farmers are having to face is the rising cost of labor. If Congress raises the minimum wage to $1.25, this increase will be reflected in labor on farms.

Bypass Receiving Stations

Hauling is another problem that milk producers run into, according to Williams. Super highways and larger load limits for trucks are inviting the pick-up trucks to bypass the smaller receiving stations and go on to larger tanks. Low prices and surplus milk are other problems that milk producers in this area do not face so much as those in other parts of the country.

Another problem which has not appeared here yet is that of sterile milk, Williams said. This milk is canned and can be kept without refrigeration. Since it tastes more like real milk than powdered milk, it will be more of a problem for milk producers than powdered milk.

"The association is working on many of these problems," Williams said.

Promoting Milk Sales

The organization is cooperating with the American Dairy Association to promote the sale of milk, especially during June, which is Dairy Month. This promotion is necessary, Williams said, because the per capita use of milk is falling each year. Before World War II the per capita use was 800 pounds a year. In 1959 it was 650 pounds. Williams attributed the decline to the use of coffee, hard and soft drinks, and iced tea.

Williams said the federation also is working with the Texas Milk Producers Federation and the National Milk Producers Federation to get good legislation passed in Austin and Washington.

'All for One . . .'

Williams also urged milk producers to support their own industry by buying dairy products themselves.

"The purpose of our organization," he concluded, "is to help the milk producers if they want it. We believe that anything that helps one dairy farmer will help them all."

Louis Henders was then elected

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Stubble mulching is the managing of plant residues on a year-round basis in which harvesting, tilling, planting, and cultivating operations are performed in such a way to keep protective amounts of vegetative material on the surface of the soil until the time of seeding the next crop.

Purposes of stubble mulching are to provide protection to soil from wind and water erosion. To maintain or improve the physical, chemical, and biological conditions of the soil, to improve intake of rainfall and to catch and hold snow, to reduce the rate of decline of soil organic matter.

Stubble mulching is applicable on dry and irrigated cropland subject to wind erosion, on dry cropland where a more intensive use of residues is an integral part of a conservation cropping system, and all lands subject to water erosion, where a more intensive use of residues can be satisfactorily sustained for mechanical practices.

To adequately protect the soil from wind and water erosion the minimum amount of residue to be maintained on the surface at planting time should be 750 pounds per acre.

Suitable crops for stubble mulching are small grains, such as wheat, oats, barley, and rye; sorghums; sudan grass, and millet.

The recommended types of equipment for stubble mulching are large sweeps, rod weeder, Hoeme chisel, and tandem disk harrow.

Grazing should be limited to maintain the required amount of residue.

Combines should be equipped with straw spreaders for uniform distribution of the straw residue.

Mrs. Clark Attends Graduation of Son

William was graduated following the spring term with a Ph.D. degree in physics from the University of Utah in Salt Lake City and received his formal degree at the director of the group for the coming year, and Charles Gerald was re-elected president. Other new officers are J. P. Sharp, vice president, and Harold Kriehauser, secretary.

YOUR HEALTH

Mortality of Overweight Women Increases With Age and Weight

Women apparently withstand the effects of being overweight better than men do, recently released suits of a study by the Society of Actuaries show.

The study included the experience of women aged 15-69 years accepted for ordinary insurance in the period 1935-53 and traced to the anniversary of their policies in 1954.

In the broad age range 15-69 years, the mortality for women 10 percent or more overweight was 18 percent in excess of that for standard female risks. For women 20 percent or more overweight, the excess was 25 percent.

Excess mortality rose steadily with increase in degree of overweight — from nine percent for women 10 percent overweight, to 30 percent for those 20 percent overweight. Excess deaths were 20 percent for women 21 years of age.

Findings Lower Than Actual

The findings are probably lower than actual for the entire population because insurance companies only take persons who pass strict physical examinations and this study was based on those women.

For any degree of overweight, the excess mortality among women is less than among men. For example, for women who at issue ages 15-39 years were 20 percent overweight, the mortality was 15 percent above that for all standard female risks. The comparable group of men had a mortality 24 percent higher than that for all standard male risks.

A major reason for this difference is that normal variation in weight is relatively greater for women than for men.

91st commencement exercises on June 6

William attended West Texas State College in 1947-48 and received his Bachelor of Science degree from Texas Technological College at Lubbock in 1950.

After serving in the armed forces, he enrolled in the University of Utah, and has been doing government research and work toward his Ph.D. degree.

Dr. Clark will be associated with the Utah Research and Development Company as a senior physicist.

CANYON, TEXAS

Northeast of Crowell, at the cradle of the Panhandle, is the Peace River Battlefield. It is best known as the spot where a band of Texas Rangers recaptured Cynthia Ann Parker 25 years after she was kidnapped by the Comanche Indians in 1836.

Holland Coffee's Trading Post was established in 1837 to barter with the Indians. One of the frequent items the Indians brought in to trade was a white man captive.

The site of the early-day trading post is just 12 miles northwest of Denison, near the Red River and the Texas-Oklahoma border.

A huge, sprawling oak tree stands proudly in the middle of a street in Columbus, west of Houston. It was beneath this tree that Judge Robert M. Williamson (Three-Legged Willie) held court in the Third Judicial District of the Republic of Texas, in 1837.

It is related that on one occasion an irate lawyer, who was commanded by Judge Willie to "produce the law," imbedded his dagger in the judge's table saying, "Here's the law!"

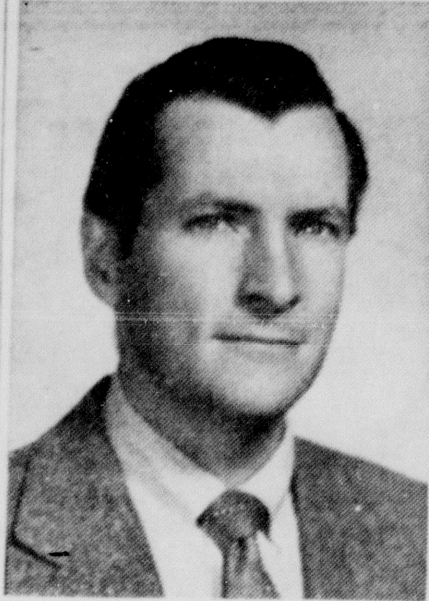

Judge Willie is reported to have laid his pistol calmly on the table with this report: "Here's the Constitution which overrules the law."

TELEPHONE TALK

"SMALL WORLD"

Sometimes you can't see the forest for the trees. I come to Canyon a couple of times a week, and I had on one occasion visited the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum. However, to really learn something of the Museum and the history of this area it was necessary for me to visit the Pampa Rotary Club. The program was provided by Canyon's Boone McClure who gave an excellent and informative talk on the Museum, its history, how it is supported, and the scope of visitors who come from all over the world each year to visit the Museum. He also reviewed the Spanish expeditions which first explored this area. I was really surprised that Boone knew as much history as he did as the program chairman introduced him as a fellow who had flunked 5th grade history. He must have gone to summer school and took the course again as he certainly knows his subject now. Congratulations to Canyon for having such a fine representative as Boone to appear before the Pampa Rotary Club.

ONE MINUTE OF COURTESY

It's been my experience that most folks in Canyon try to answer their phone calls promptly. But in the summertime so many are busy outside — with gardening, yard work or just relaxing in the sun or under the stars — that it takes a little longer to get to the phone.

If you've ever just missed a call after running in from outside to answer the phone, you know how disappointing it is. Most folks can get to their telephones within a minute, even when they aren't in the house. One minute is about the time it takes for the phone to ring 10 times.

By waiting at least 10 rings before you hang up, you have a much better chance of getting your call through, especially when the person you're calling is not near the phone. In the long run, you'll save yourself the time and trouble of calling again, and your friends will certainly appreciate your courtesy and patience. So please remember to wait 10 rings — it takes just a minute.

VACATION TRAVEL TIPS

If you plan to go out of town on vacation, there are a couple of things you can do to make your trip more enjoyable and carefree.

First, call ahead for reservations. Second, make arrangements with a relative or neighbor to keep an eye on your house while you're away. Give them your vacation address and phone number so they can reach you in an emergency.

Remember, too, Long Distance rates are lower on Sundays and weekdays after 6 p.m. And you save more than one-third when you call station-to-station.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.
